

Suzanne Taylor - an award winning artist. Originally from the Kimberleys, she is now using oils, pastels and acrylics to produce a diverse range of paintings inspired by her time here in the Otways.

She will be at The Tin Shed Gallery - 50 Roadknight St, Birregurra

Wendy Dennis - an accomplished textile artist, hand-dyes Tarndwarncoort's Polwarth wool for craft use, producing a colour palette that is something to behold.

Tim Lucas - a Colac based photographer and photo artist. His work incorporates landscapes and travel photography together with macro images. He is exhibiting at Tarndwarncoort.

Monica Provan uses the process of lamp working to make glass beads and cabochons. The combination of original glass works, wire and metal smithing creates unique, wearable art.

She will be demonstrating at Tarndwarncoort.

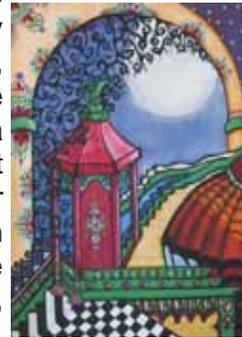

Chris West works mainly with textiles and fibres, enjoying the textures, colour and movement that these materials provide. Chris has conducted workshops and held several exhibitions. Her Studio is at 18 Main Rd, Birregurra

Angie Smales creates quality, functional craft from new or recycled materials. Angie's studio and garden will be open 6 Jenner Street, Birregurra.

Maureen McManamny's work is inspired by family who came from Egypt, giving her a love of the exotic as well as a fascination with ancient history. She loves colour and uses many themes in her work. Maureen will be exhibiting at Farm Foods, Main Street Birregurra

Lucy McEachern is inspired by rural Australia. Her tactile sculptures capture not only a bird's character, but also invite the viewer to feel the bird's contours, in a celebration of their majestic presence. She will be exhibiting her works at The Treehouse Gallery.

Pam Fyfe uses wool and silk to create unique hand-made garments, accessories, such as scarves and bags as well as 3-D items. Pam will be demonstrating felting techniques at her studio over the weekend at 10 Birregurra-Yeodene Road, Birregurra.

Chris Hoggard creates garden ornaments using her surroundings for inspiration. Frogs, Lizards, choocks and birds feature much in her work. Her bird baths are a practical and creative addition to any garden. Chris is exhibiting at Tarndwarncoort.
